

BOTTOM FELL OUT

Revealing a Mammoth Cave
Near Greenwich

ON MR. YOUNG'S FARM

None So Brave as to Try to Explore It.

Mr. Henry Young was in the city yesterday and told a reporter for the Eagle of the discovery of a subterranean cave in a corn field about 200 yards from his house on his farm, two and a half miles from Greenwich. The discovery has created somewhat of a sensation in that neighborhood, and when the report reaches the ears of scientists there may be uncovered and revealed a chasm which will startle the country. The earth disappeared very suddenly in a field which Mr. Young has farmed and plowed over for nearly thirty years, and it was only by the instinct of the horses which his son was driving that a horrible accident was averted. The discovery was made by Mr. Young's son, Herman, who was plowing corn. The team suddenly stopped and started, and Herman went around to see what the trouble was, and was himself startled by the discovery of a large hole the like of which he had never seen before anywhere on the farm. He called to his father and Mike Caholey, the hired man, who went to the scene. They did not account for the strange disappearance of the earth. Men from Greenwich heard of it and went out to see it. By the best means at hand the cavity was measured and peered into. It is thought to be about twenty feet deep where the opening was. About half the way down they could see where the cavity expanded and extended to the southeast, where it got a great deal deeper and the bottom could not be found. At a distance of about twenty feet the interior was said to be 25 feet north and south and about 15 or 20 feet the other way. The opening of the cavity is about four feet square. There is a ridge of stone discernible where the hole makes a dip under the earth, and it is thought the interior is filled with rock or a formation of rock and gravel. Frank Leggett, a merchant at Greenwich, wanted to explore the interior, but there were no means at hand by which he could be let down with safety. One man put his ear to the edge of the hole and thought he could hear a curious rumbling like the running of a stream over and through rocky crevices, and the sound gave evidence that the interior comprises a much larger space than that which the neighbors had figured on.

The corn field in which the cave was discovered is a sloping field containing about forty acres, at the lower edge of which there is a draw. In order to prevent the soil washing into this draw Mr. Young made a dam of rubbish to catch the dirt as it washed down the field. After the discovery of the cave Mr. Young removed some of the rubbish of the dam and several streams of clear water broke forth, each as big as his arm. He thinks this water came from the cave. Herman Young, who has been cultivating this particular field, has been over the spot five times this spring and was plowing the corn for the last time. Had he been plowing on the other side of the field he would have driven into the cave, and horses, plow and all would probably have gone down with the earth, which is still resting without any support whatever. Precautions have been made to keep curiosity seekers from walking on the unsupported part. It is thought that some means will be secured by which some bold adventurer may be given a chance to explore the cave, which Mr. Young says is truly a wonder.

In 1896 there was reported from Clearwater a similar discovery, but there it is said the earth simply sank, and was easily accounted for by the appearance of water in the bottom of the sunken place. On Mr. Young's place there is nothing whatever to account for the disappearance of the earth. It simply dropped out of sight and did not lodge anywhere, as far as any one has been able to find.

WILL BE GREAT CITY YET
Mr. J. B. York will Retain His Property.

Mr. J. B. York, the big lumber manufacturer of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, whose trade extends from the Alleghenies to the Rockies and all over Texas, is spending a few days in Wichita. Mr. York was a former resident of this city, was for years a county commissioner and knows all about the place. He still holds on to his original properties here, having kept them because of his faith in the future of the town which he says is the best in all Kansas and with the greatest future. In speaking of the railway discriminations maintained against this city, he says that the lumber schedule from his mill in Arkansas to this city is only two cents more to Rocky Mountain points than to Wichita. However, Mr. York says that the break in the freight rate discriminations against Wichita must come sooner or later, when if this city does not attain to all that we dreamed of in early days, it will still be a great city, as it is a desirable one now in which to live and do business. Mr. York looks well, having not perceptibly aged. Scores of old time friends will be glad to greet him.

DOLD FORCE TO PICNIC
Big Week Celebrated by an Outing of the Workmen.

The week just closed has been a heavy one at the Dold packing plant. Twice during the week the record for shipments was broken in the history of the local house. On Tuesday and Thursday the shipments were the largest for any one day since this house was started, and the whole week has been an extra busy one in all departments.

Yesterday all the traveling salesmen reported at the office, and the heads of departments about the plant and superintendent and foremen filed in to make their weekly reports. All were greatly pleased with the showing for the week, and Manager Fred Dold, always alive to the best interests of the force, at once suggested a day's outing for the recuperation of the overworked force, every one of whom the past week has more than done his duty. In consequence today will

"Necessity

But a law of Nature bows to the necessity of keeping the blood pure so that the entire system shall be strong, healthy and vigorous. To take Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is hence a law of health and a necessity in nearly every home.

Eczema—"Our baby's face itched so and was covered with scabs, she suffered everything. We tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and she was cured. Her face is now smooth, white and soft." Mrs. Wilbur Wells, Warren, Conn.

Morning Fatigue—"I suffered with a tired feeling and headache every morning and evening. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and got relief. It also cured me of the grip and of catarrh of 12 years duration." Mrs. Jennie Horner, Stoughton, Pa.

be celebrated by the accounting department in an all day outing on the Cow-skin, chartered by Chief Clerk Harrison and Mrs. Harrison, assisted by Dr. Oshell, the federal inspector located at this point. George Schad is not in good standing in the lodge, as he went outside of Wichita to get a bride, and he will not be present. Chas. Phillips will be assigned to the task of chief keg tender. The girls in the office will be present, with their voices, and after being strained through a sieve these voices will be trained to sing rich and rapturous melody. Louis Gertels will recite a few lines from Odes and Ell Perkins, and every one will do his or her part toward entertaining the party. The last seen of Chief Clerk Harrison he was striding down Lawrence avenue armed with a gunny sack, which he claimed was to carry ice, perhaps to pack the head of Brother Wheeler after the worst of the trouble is over. Most of the party are expected to be back by Monday morning and business will be resumed as usual.

STREET CAR LINE

Could be Prepared to Give the City Good Service

AT VERY LITTLE COST

Council Would Grant the Privilege.

There is another way out of this street car line muddle, and it seems a sensible way, as it is sure economical. Of course the city council's success would have to be obtained, but everybody, except, maybe, the ministerial association, agrees that we have a very level-headed council, fit running mates to Mayor Ross, all conscientious, conservative, watchful and prayerful. But that is another story. Permit the present company, or any company to re-tilt all the T-rail sections of the road, putting it in ship-shape by lowering high centers and raising low joints. Saw off all broken ends of the tram or flat rail sections along the paved streets and re-lay them or put in new ones. Procure from St. Louis or other city street railway company such second-hand cars as have been rejected because they were not large enough for the traffic but which are about as good as new, or would be fully as good when repainted, and which can be bought at a very low figure, doubtless, and there you are, with twenty-five or thirty practically new cars, or a sufficient number for prompt and frequent service, over a fair if not a No. 1 track and without the outlay or such an amount of capital as might render satisfactory dividends less certain. The T-rails, and which comprise eight-tenths of the present tracks, are as good as they ever were. Plenty of sound, staunch ties under them would compensate for their lightness.

CAPT. COGLAN
WILL PASS THROUGH WICHITA
TUESDAY.

Speaks at the Winfield Chautauqua
Wednesday.

Next Tuesday evening Captain Coghlan, of the Raleigh, who participated in the battle of Manila, and who raised so much talk by a speech he made at a New York banquet, some weeks ago, in which he taunted and criticized the German commander at Manila, will pass through Wichita next Tuesday evening on the 5:30 Santa Fe train for Winfield, Kan., where he is to address the Chautauqua assembly. WANT A NEW TRIAL
County Attorney and Commissioners are Not Satisfied.

The county commissioners and attorneys Amidon & Conly filed a motion for a new trial in the case of the city against the judgment, which was tried last week and a judgment rendered by Justice Dale in favor of the city. The attorneys base their grounds for a new trial on the following points: First, the decision and judgment of the court is contrary to law; second, the decision and judgment is contrary to the evidence; third, error of law occurring at the trial and excepted to by the defendants; fourth, the decision and judgment of the court is not sustained by the evidence or agreement of facts; fifth, the decision and judgment of the court is contrary to the evidence and agreement of facts.

Mr. and Mrs. Welles Miller and Mrs. A. R. Munson will leave this morning for Colorado points, where they will spend several weeks in a general outfit. At Colorado Springs they will be joined by Mr. Munson and at some point will locate for the summer.

Among thirty or forty pictures this is given a full page and is a great piece of work. It is complimented by the publishers as the best they have received from any part of the United States. Mr. Klein, the youngster's father, travels for the Wichita Wholesale Grocery company.

About the Make of
Our Summer Garments

We have a few words to say. You may have had and experience with Wash Suits—had them get all out of shape and never get back again. Well, ours won't do that. They are not the right way of the cloth, and the cloth is well shrunk. They are perfect in fit—tailored accurately. The Vests are unlined and can't get out of shape. The Pants have continuous waist bands and belt straps. We can't say too much for the make, for it is perfect. You will have no cause for dissatisfaction.
